Now admitting there to be the worst both then can be no doubt of the superiority of the situation of Auckland than that of Wellington, as it has the advantage of it in every one of these points. Not only is the harbor of Wellington in which Auckland stands perfectly unexceptionable, being accessible with any wind, but they are separated from Manukau by a distance of 12 miles. A mile and a half wide it has the remarkable advantage of a second harbor on the West coast, which though to a certain extent is the harbor in the mouth the bay has on the West Coast and may be and has been visited by perfect strangers ^{with} perfect safety in the second harbor. Auckland is still more sheltered than although Port Nicholson is unquestionably a good harbor, it is from the constant winds blowing violently all day, nearly

N.Z DOCUMENTS

227 HEALE, THEOPHILUS [ca 1841]

Mr Heales Notes upon the Site of Capital N.Z.

August [date indecipherable, ca 1841] Hand written document, folded and titled, text on three pages, listing the reasons for making the capital city of New Zealand Auckland not Wellington and an explanation of his reasons. The writing is faded but mostly legible there is one hole in the text of the third page with loss of three words. "The main points to be looked for in the selection of the site of the Capital of a Colony seem to me to be 1st A good harbour easily accessible and safe in all winds.

2ndly A central situation with ready means of communication with all parts of the country. Especially with the best agricultural districts.

3rdly Salubrious situation not exposed to floods or bleak winds, abundance of water and timber for house building purposes and fuel.

Now admitting these to be crucial tests there can be no doubt of the superiority of the situation of Auckland over that of Wellington, as it has the advantage of it in every one of these respects...'...The same cause which makes Port Nicholson so difficult of access namely the constant violent winds, makes that place particularly unsuitable as a residence, no parts being habitable save the valleys...."

Theophilus Heale arrived in the Colony in the 1840's, and was involved with the Manukau Land Company, he was a vocal exponent on the merits of Auckland over Wellington as a capital

'... Convinced that I am, of the ruin that would be brought on the colony by transferring its metropolis to so irredeemably bad site as Port Nicholson, and that were the Company [NZ Company] to be made for the agent for the colonization of the island, that transfer would immediately follow'...there are other settlements in New Zealand besides those of the Company and that some at least think them in every respect superior to those of the Company..'

Theophilus Heale - New Zealand and the New Zealand Company. London 1842

Auckland was officially declared New Zealand's capital in 1841. The passage by the British Parliament of the New Zealand Constitution Act 1852 led to the convening of the Colony's first general Assembly in May 1854 in Parliament Building in Auckland. The move to Wellington as the capital for New Zealand took place in 1865 after much controversy.

An extremely rare handwritten document relating to the controversy over the siting of the capital city of New Zealand. $6000 - $8000

228 HISTORIC LETTER, 26 April 1861

Newcastle to Gore-Browne

A 7 page hand written letter from Henry Pelham Clinton, 5th Duke of Newcastle and Secretary of State for the Colonies to Thomas Gore-Browne Governor of New Zealand. Written on 26th April 1861 after the Waitara land purchase and the beginning of the outbreak of war in Taranaki, the letter gives a view of the feeling in Britain at the time for the Colony and the natives, it includes mention of Wiremu Kingi, Chief of the Te Ati Awa tribe and leader of the Maori forces in the war and the fierce criticism the government faced through William Martin's pamphlet regarding the forced purchase of land. Quotes from the letter are as follows.

"...Unless they will note some 20,000 [pounds] for the Governor to apply at his discretion for native purposes I do not see how future and constant insurrection are to be avoided. It may be a vulgar alternative but I believe they must either pay the Chiefs or exterminate them, - and I need hardly point out what will be the course of action here if ever a suspicion arises that the colonists or any considerable portion of them look upon the latter as admissible or to be thought of except with horror. The splendid courage of the Maoris in their late engagement with our troops has naturally created a strong admiration for them in England and unless the same consideration for them which I readily admit has been displayed by your government and the late assembly is [?] by any new ministry and by the new assembly I feel sure that the recall of the troops by a motion in the House of Commons is not a thing to be considered impossible, though the present time British Public has fully recognized the necessity of putting down the insurrection and has not complained of the means taken by us for aiding the settlers though the expense is heavy and in itself of course unpopular...."

"... The publication in the Colony of such productions as Sir William Martin's pamphlet and others is most lamentable - I am at a loss to conceive how men of such high character and position can reconcile such acts with a sense of duty and spirit of patriotism...."

"...I am not sure that I like your 'Terms of Peace'. In the first place ought you to negotiate with Wiremu Kingi as if he represented the Maori Race ? In the second ought you to negotiate with rebels at all? The terms themselves seem fair; though I doubt the probability of your obtaining the surrender of the 'Murderers'. The fact is - the natives do not look upon the deaths of those men as murder and I fear a refusal to give up their friends will be a point of honour...."

A rare hand written letter from a very important period in New Zealand's colonial history. $4000 - $6000

231 NEW ZEALAND MANUKAU COMPANY

Copy of Proposal for Certain Lands in New Zealand

Three hand written documents relating to the Manukau Land Company.

- Copy of Proposal for Certain Lands in New Zealand.

Dated London 14th August 1838

Captain Mackay

Original handwritten document setting down

"Proposal for the occupation of certain lands in New Zealand the property of the heirs of the late Mitchell Esq and under the control and management of the Rev. W. White"

The documents lists the conditions of rental including the acreage, length of lease, rental cost, the rights of the tenant to cut timber for building, fencing and on the expiration of the lease the terms that they will be granted land.

In 1833 Thomas Mitchell [a trader from Sydney] realising the value of the kauri forests on the shores of the Manukau Harbour established a trading post on the Puponga Peninsula. On January 11th 1836 Mitchell assisted by the Methodist Missionary Rev. William White purchased the whole of the Auckland Isthmus from Apihai Te Kawau, a chief of the Ngati Whatua and from other local chiefs, for this he paid 'a quantity of merchandise to the value of 160 pounds'. On Mitchell's death, his wife through a trustee sold the land to the New Zealand Manukau and Waitemata Company.

2. Prospectus

of the New Zealand Manukau Company
Office 6 1/2 Waterloo Place.

Terms of Purchase for Lands in the Company's first settlements [1840]. In May 1840 the Company issued its prospectus to encourage purchasers to take up land in the proposed settlements. The land being divided into 100 country areas and one town lot for the price of 101 pounds. The document describes where and how the land will be allocated and how the 60,600 pounds paid to the Company by the purchasers will be used. The ...Purchasers of land orders intending to emigrate with the first colony [which it is proposed shall depart as soon as a sufficient number to freight a ship shall be prepared] will be entitled to claim from the company out of the 45,450 pounds set apart for emigration an expenditure for their own passage and that of their families and servants equal to 45% of their Purchase money....'

The first settlers arrived on board the Brilliant in 1841, they arrived to a sandy beach at Puponga with no housing, or roads on bare unsurveyed land. There was dispute as to whether to their right to occupy the sections for which they had paid and which they expected to take possession. The Company had yet to prove its claim to the land purchased back in 1838 and this possession was still in dispute. In 1848 the Lands Commission awarded only one tenth of the original area to the Manukau Company, however the settlers were granted by the government for every 1 pound they had invested in their claims at Manukau, the treasury issued them with scrip credit of 4 pounds with which they could take up land to the equivalent value elsewhere in the country.

3. Papers Relevant to New Zew Zealand Copy Reply. Emigration, New Zealand

An original hand written letter to Major John Campbell from S. Walcott, Colonial Land and Emigration, Park St, 29th March 1841?. The letter concerns the subject of of the Settlement of claims to land associated with the Manukau Land Company and the Commissioners response to the Companys request to be treated on the same basis as the New Zealand Company.

"Since the contract was made with the NZ Company circumstances have occurred which will prevent the extension to any other person of the advantages granted by the contract to the Company"

Early and rare original documents relating to Auckland's colonial history.

Whakawhiwhia ou minita
 No heading, date or imprint [1842]. A leaflet printed by Colenso for the consideration of the committee in connexion with the use of the symbol 'wh'. It contains, in roman letters and in italics the sentences 'Whakawhiwhia ou minita ki te tikanga,' with the symbols 'w', 'wh', 'Meinga tou hunga i whiriwhiri ai koe kia hari,' printed thus, and also with the symbols 'w', 'w' and 'v' respectively substituted for 'wh'. In a covering letter dated June 13, 1842, Colenso expressed his disapproval of the symbol 'wh' and his preference for 'v'. The committee ultimately decided upon 'wh'. Colenso with characteristic obstinacy, continued to use the unmodified 'w' at his own press at Heretaunga, printing a 'wh' once or twice, apparently in inadvertence. Single sheet 14 x 19cms, paper frail and edges chipped with loss, no loss of text.

Te Matenga totika
 An unpublished work by Colenso consisting of accounts of the deaths of some 25 converts to Christianity. The first part is concerned with cases from foreign parts but 11 Maori notices are included from p63 onwards. Probably published as single leaves from 1847 - 1858. This is a complete uncut copy if cut down centre there would be two copies of each page. Pagination 1-52; 55-74; 77-96; 99-102; 105-108; 111-124; 127-132p.
"Colenso left a large number of these leaves in separate packets, some of which were marked 'He matenga totika', and some 'Happy Deaths' ... " "It is probable, therefore that he worked off a leaf from time to time and that the work was incomplete when his connexion with the Mission terminated abruptly in December 1852..." Williams 249. 368 BAXTER, JAMES K

The Man in the Garden

A poem, hand written and signed by James K. Baxter and inscribed by him. The poem consists of 10 lines and appears to be written for children.

"The man in the garden worked with a spade and a fork
Day after day, sifting out the couch grass

And piling the long white roots beside the hedge, -
But the roots sprouted again when the rain came down,

And the ones he had chopped in half sent new green blades
Up through the flesh of the kumaras he planted

His neighbour said, 'Man, why dont you try clover?
Clover is a strong plant, it drives the couch grass out ?

He planted clover, and his garden was clean.
The couch grass roots are our faults, and the clover is love".

Written on a plain sheet of paper and laid into the front of 'The Flowering Cross'.

Conditions of sale

Please note: it is assumed that all bidders at auction have read and agreed to the conditions described on this page. ART+OBJECT directors are available during the auction viewing to clarify any questions you may have.

Registration: Only registered bidders may bid at auction. You are required to complete a bidding card or absentee bidding form prior to the auction giving your correct name, address and telephone contact + supplementary information such as email addresses that you may wish to supply to ART+OBJECT

2.

Bidding: The highest bidder will be the purchaser subject to the auctioneer accepting the winning bid and any vendor's reserve having been reached. The auctioneer has the right to refuse any bid. If this takes place or in the event of a dispute the auctioneer may call for bids at the previous lowest bid and proceed from this point. Bids advance at sums decreed by the auctioneer unless signaled otherwise by the auctioneer. No bids may be retracted. The auctioneer retains the right to bid on behalf of the vendor up to the reserve figure.

3.

Reserve: Lots are offered and sold subject to the vendor's reserve price being met.

4.

Lots offered and sold as described and viewed: ART+OBJECT makes all attempts to accurately describe and catalogue lots offered for sale. Notwithstanding this neither the vendor nor ART+OBJECT accepts any liability for errors of description or faults and imperfections whether described in writing or verbally. This applies to questions of authenticity and quality of the item. Buyers are deemed to have inspected the item thoroughly and proceed on their own judgment. The act of bidding is agreed by the buyer to be an indication that they are satisfied on all counts regarding condition and authenticity.

5.

Buyers premium: The purchaser by bidding acknowledges their acceptance of a buyers premium of 18.5% plus GST on the premium to be added to the hammer price in the event of a successful sale at auction. Please consult the relevant auction catalogue to confirm the premium for each sale.

6.

ART+OBJECT is an agent for a vendor: A+O has the right to conduct the sale of an item on behalf of a vendor. This may include withdrawing an item from sale for any reason.

7.

Payment: Successful bidders are required to make full payment immediately post sale – being either the day of the sale or the following day. If for any reason payment is delayed then a 20% deposit is required immediately and the balance to 100% required within 3 working days of the sale date. Payment can be made by Eftpos, bank cheque or cash. Cheques must be cleared before items are available for collection. Credit cards are not accepted.

8.

Failure to make payment: If a purchaser fails to make payment as outlined in point 7 above ART+OBJECT may without any advice to the purchaser exercise its right to: a) rescind or stop the sale, b) re offer the lot for sale to an underbidder or at auction. ART+OBJECT reserves the right to pursue the purchaser for any difference in sale proceeds if this course of action is chosen, c) to pursue legal remedy for breach of contract.

9.

Collection of goods: Purchased items are to be removed from ART+OBJECT premises immediately after payment or clearance of cheques. Absentee bidders must make provision for the uplifting of purchased items (see instructions on the facing page)

10.

Bidders obligations: The act of bidding means all bidders acknowledge that they are personally responsible for payment if they are the successful bidder. This includes all registered absentee or telephone bidders. Bidders acting as an agent for a third party must obtain written authority from ART+OBJECT and provide written instructions from any represented party and their express commitment to pay all funds relating to a successful bid by their nominated agent.

11.

Bids under reserve & highest subject bids: When the highest bid is below the vendor's reserve this work may be announced by the auctioneer as sold 'subject to vendor's authority' or some similar phrase. The effect of this announcement is to signify that the highest bidder will be the purchaser at the bid price if the vendor accepts this price. If this highest bid is accepted then the purchaser has entered a contract to purchase the item at the bid price plus any relevant buyers premium.

Important advice for buyers

The following information does not form part of the conditions of sale, however buyers, particularly first time bidders are recommended to read these notes.

A.

Bidding at auction: Please ensure your instructions to the auctioneer are clear and easily understood. It is well to understand that during a busy sale with multiple bidders the auctioneer may not be able to see all bids at all times. It is recommended that you raise your bidding number clearly and without hesitation. If your bid is made in error or you have misunderstood the bidding level please advise the auctioneer immediately of your error – prior to the hammer falling. Please note that if you have made a bid and the hammer has fallen and you are the highest bidder you have entered a binding contract to purchase an item at the bid price. New bidders in particular are advised to make themselves known to the sale auctioneer who will assist you with any questions about the conduct of the auction.

B.

Absentee bidding: ART+OBJECT welcomes absentee bids once the necessary authority has been completed and lodged with ART+OBJECT. A+O will do all it can to ensure bids are lodged on your behalf but accepts no liability for failure to carry out these bids. See the Absentee bidding form in this catalogue for information on lodging absentee bids. These are accepted up to 2 hours prior to the published auction commencement.

C.

Telephone bids: The same conditions apply to telephone bids. It is highly preferable to bid over a landline as the vagaries of cellphone connections may result in disappointment. You will be telephoned prior to your indicated lot arising in the catalogue order. If the phone is engaged or connection impossible the sale will proceed without your bidding. At times during an auction the bidding can be frenetic so you need to be sure you give clear instructions to the person executing your bids. The auctioneer will endeavour to cater to the requirements of phone bidders but cannot wait for a phone bid so your prompt participation is requested.

D.

New Zealand dollars: All estimates in this catalogue are in New Zealand dollars. The amount to be paid by successful bidders on the payment date is the New Zealand dollar amount stated on the purchaser invoice. Exchange rate variations are at the risk of the purchaser.
