ART + OBJECT

Professor Ron Keam was Associate Professor of Physics at The University of Auckland, as well as author of the magnificent Tarawera: the volcanic eruption of 10 June 1886. An enthusiastic historian, Keam had a life-long fascination with the mystery of geothermal activity and the history associated with Mt Tarawera, its eruption and the active geothermal districts that surround it.

Along with his colleague E.F. (Ted) Lloyd, Ron was awarded the prestigious New Zealand Science and Technology silver medal in 2002 by the Royal Society in New Zealand, in recognition of their exceptional contribution to the understanding and conservation of geothermal features in New Zealand.

The Ron Keam Collection is a large and significant collection of photographs, books, postcards, pamphlets, manuscripts and ephemera focusing on Tarawera, the 1886 eruption and the surrounding geothermal area.

Complementing these items, Keam also held a number of important paintings by well-known artists who made paintings relating to the area including John Kinder, C.D. Barraud, J.P. Backhouse and John Barr Clarke Hoyte. New Zealand's dramatic landscapes and the indigenous Maori people were a fascination to artists arriving from Europe in the 1800's. Charles Blomfield travelled to New Zealand with his mother and eight siblings, after the death of his father. The family lived in Wood Street, Ponsonby for many years and Charles earned a living travelling around New Zealand painting the dramatic landscape. His paintings of the Pink and White Terraces have long been regarded as some of the most beautiful depictions of the area ever made, as well as being a true and accurate record.

The extraordinary rock formations were an international tourist attraction; the local Maori kept a close eye on visitors and sketching or taking photographs was strictly not permitted unless a significant fee of 5 pounds was paid. With assistance from the school master at Wairoa, Mr Haszard, Blomfield was able to negotiate payment of a lump sum, allowing him access to Lake Rotomahana with his boat. He camped there for six weeks, documenting the Pink and White Terraces and the surrounding landscape in a series of oil paintings and sketches, accompanied by his 8 year old daughter Mary, until supplies ran out and reluctantly, the pair left the idyllic spot and returned to Auckland.

Only 18 months later, the adjacent Mt Tarawera would erupt, destroying the famous Terraces and taking the lives of many people in the area, including Mr Haszard and three of his children. Surviving daughter Ina went on to become an artist and her haunting recollection of that fateful night in 1886, painted in the true romantic tradition, complete with heavy black sky over the mountain and balls of fire shooting across the sky, is lot 129.

This is the most comprehensive and significant collection of its type in the country, with items of interest to many collectors. We look forward to seeing you at the viewing.

"I am now the only survivor of the Haszard family of Wairoa. My mother and sister, who were survivors, passed away some years ago. Painful as the subject is to me I have felt it a duty to my native home, New Zealand, to leave a brief record of my experience, and being an artist, I have also used my best efforts in producing a painting – 'Mount Tarawera in Eruption'. To live again in memory that terrible drama, for the purpose of creating this picture, has proved a trying ordeal, but I hope my efforts have not been in vain".

159 Arthur J. Vogan
Archive of illustrations, papers and sketches

My Experiences of an Eruption.

Original typescript manuscript, 12p, with notations by author, 280mm. Quote from Ron Kearn's 'Tarawera' [appendix T] 'The manuscript consists of just over 12 p of typescript...' 'From annotations in the margin one sees that it was to have been illustrated by one photograph and three sketches, these items accompany the typescript. The sketches are well executed works by Vogan himself, I have no doubt that "My Experiences of an Eruption" is the item which Vogan called 'Tarawera' in his list of his own 'publications', but no evidence has emerged that it was ever, in fact, published....'

Also:

- Three watercolour sketches 250 x 330mm, each annotated on the back by Vogan and one with a studio portrait photograph of him verso, they are, 'Digging out Tuhotu the priest....' 'When crossing the line of mud-volcanoes June 1886...' 'From rough memory, sketch made shortly after return. Crossing the Chain of mud volcanoes...'
- Ten photographs by Josiah Martin all mounted on heavy paper by Arthur Vogan including one of 'Te Ariki Village where about 114 natives and 12 whites were killed by falling mud...' One unusual view of the Hazards house taken a week after the eruption with an organ sitting out front. All are annotated verso.
- The Black Police – An Australian Story by A.J. Vogan. Hutchinson & Co [1890] Inscription dated 1891. 392p, advertising, illustrated chapter headings. Original pictorial boards, back cover detached.
- Numerous illustrations by A.J. Vogan from the London Illustrated News showing the volcanic eruption of Mount Tarawera.
- Original ink and watercolour map on cloth by Vogan of the area showing the rivers, lakes and eruption area. 265 x 200mm.
- Two worn scrapbooks containing numerous small watercolours, pencil sketches & pieces of ephemera relating to New Zealand, a few small sketches to Australia.
- One item a Christmas Decoration with an inscription by Vogan verso 'I declare this to be the identical "picture" at which Penn fired at the commencement of the affair which ended in the Barrier murder. Tryphena Bay, Great Barrier Island. I acting as reporter took this picture down from the wall at scene of the murder a few days after same, A.J. Vogan July 1887.

Arthur James Vogan was born on 8th August 1859 in Kent England and emigrated to New Zealand with his family in 1879. Finding work as a journalist initially on small NZ newspapers he travelled to Australia in the mid 1880's working as a writer and artist for the illustrated London News. During his travels he became appalled at the condition of Aboriginal people living on pastoral stations and outback towns, capturing it in 'The Black Police' [1890], one of very few denunciations of what was happening to Aboriginal people living on pastoral stations and outback towns in rural Australia at the time.

Vogan had been working in Onehunga on the 10th of June, he made his way to Tauranga by steamer and then to Ohinemutu, where he became part of one of the first the rescue parties. He was one of four volunteers who started out from Ohinemutu for Wairoa, and was in time to dig out survivors of the great eruption, and himself unearthed the tohunga Tohutu, who was under twelve feet of mud for four and a half days. He was the first to see what had been the Terraces and reported the occurrence.

Diary and Journal 1900 - 1901

Two diaries for 1900 and 1901. Appears to have been written by the son of William McIntosh who was Government Bridge Inspector in Hawkes Bay, the author mentions in the diary that his father "discovered" Mount McIntosh.

A young man leaving a position in the New Zealand Railway to go to Auckland for a new position in Her Majesty's Customs. Given a free rail pass the diary documents his extensive travels through New Zealand by boat and train before arriving in Auckland to take up his new position. The diary records in detail contemporary important events of local and world interest, the Cheviot earthquakes of 1901, the death of Queen Victoria etc.

It documents extensively his trip to the thermal regions [1899] in a journal he has written in the spaces beneath his daily diary, with pages tipped in due to lack of space. He has given graphic descriptions of the people he met, including his meetings with local Maori, the geysers, descriptions of the pools etc.

ALFRED FAIRBROTHER ARCHIVE

William and Anstis Snow, an affluent American couple in their 20s, travelled to New Zealand in 1880, hoping that the famous hot springs may aid William's bad health. They initiated a temperance drive at Te Wairoa, having become distressed at seeing how Maori were being destroyed by alcohol. The temperance movement became a Maori mission, affiliated with the Wellesley Street Baptist Church in Auckland, a church that had as it's pastor Thomas Spurgeon (son of Charles Spurgeon, a well-known English preacher). Unfortunately William Snow died in 1883 whilst en route to Europe, but despite this Anstis returned to Rotorua in 1885, accompanied by her mother-in-law Margaret Snow. Once there she quickly developed a mutual attachment to Alfred Fairbrother, a recent graduate of Spurgeon's Pastors' College in England, who had been appointed as missionary to Te Wairoa. Anstis and Alfred were married by Thomas Spurgeon in Auckland on May 26, 1885. The consumption of liquor remained a major problem in the area and Fairbrother declared war on alcohol. Maori interest in following the work of the mission increased for a time but in 1885 discontent surfaced in relation to Fairbrother's work, eventually causing him to resign. Alfred and Anstis were leaving the area and had got as far as Cambridge when the eruption occurred. Alfred immediately returned to Te Wairoa to help with rescue efforts. He stayed for several weeks but scores of Maori he had formerly worked with had died in the eruption. They finally left for America in August 1886. The following items were sent to Professor Ron Keam some years after the death of Alfred Fairbrother by family members.

218 FAIRBROTHER, ALFRED

Baptist Missionary, Ohinemutu

Prayer books and ephemera with provenance to Alfred Fairbrother on the endpapers. They include a small leatherbound bible inscribed inside the cover, To Alfred Fairbrother [Sunday] April 30/63. 120mm appears to be complete, but in worn condition. Also a notebook containing newspaper clippings, his sermons, prayers and poems. A copy of 'The Terraces of Rotomahana' by Frank Copwan, to which is prefixed a paper by Josiah Martin.

A small cloth bound prayer book Ko Nga Inoi O te Ata O Te Ahiahi...' Ranana 1852, inscription in Maori on endpaper dated 6/84 with the name Ohinemutu and T. McRae.
Four other small prayer and hymn books. Condition fair.
$200 - $400

219 FAIRBROTHER, ALFRED

Botanical Collection - New Zealand Ferns

Parcel containing a collection of approximately 152 New Zealand fern specimens each mounted on card with facing tissues. Printed botanical names on each card and most with an inked number. The ferns are in excellent condition, they are interleaved with tissue and have been wrapped firmly in heavy brown paper since received by Ron Keam, with 'Ferns, Alfred Fairbrother estate' written on the front.

These along with some other items were sent to Professor Ron Keam some years after the death of Alfred Fairbrother by family members.

Alfred Fairbrother commenced Maori Ministry at Ohinemutu in 1883. Liquor was recognized to be a major social problem and Fairbrother declared war on alcohol. Maori interest increased for a time but in 1885 discontent surfaced in relation to Fairbrother's work, eventually causing him to resign. After the eruption he returned to Te Wairoa to help and to minister to Maori refugees, finally leaving for America in August 1866.

CONDITIONS OF SALE

ART + OBJECT

Please note: it is assumed that all bidders at auction have read and agreed to the conditions described on this page. Art+Object directors are available during the auction viewing to clarify any questions you may have.

1. Registration: Only registered bidders may bid at auction. You are required to complete a bidding card or absentee bidding form prior to the auction giving your correct name, address and telephone contact and supplementary information such as email addresses that you may wish to supply to Art+Object.

2. Bidding: The highest bidder will be the purchaser subject to the auctioneer accepting the winning bid and any vendor's reserve having been reached. The auctioneer has the right to refuse any bid. If this takes place or in the event of a dispute the auctioneer may call for bids at the previous lowest bid and proceed from this point. Bids advance at sums decreed by the auctioneer unless signaled otherwise by the auctioneer. No bids may be retracted. The auctioneer retains the right to bid on behalf of the vendor up to the reserve figure.

3. Reserve: Lots are offered and sold subject to the vendor's reserve price being met.

4. Lots offered and sold as described and viewed: Art+Object makes all attempts to accurately describe and catalogue lots offered for sale. Notwithstanding this neither the vendor nor Art+Object accepts any liability for errors of description or faults and imperfections whether described in writing or verbally. This applies to questions of authenticity and quality of the item. Buyers are deemed to have inspected the item thoroughly and proceed on their own judgment. The act of bidding is agreed by the buyer to be an indication that they are satisfied on all counts regarding condition and authenticity.

5. Buyers premium: The purchaser by bidding acknowledges their acceptance of a buyers premium of 20% + GST to be added to the hammer price in the event of a successful sale at auction.

6. Art+Object is an agent for a vendor: A+O has the right to conduct the sale of an item on behalf of a vendor. This may include withdrawing an item from sale for any reason.

7. Payment: Successful bidders are required to make full payment immediately post sale – being either the day of the sale or the following day. If for any reason payment is delayed then a 20% deposit is required immediately and the balance to 100% required within 3 working days of the sale date. We accept payment via Eftpos, cash (under $5000.00) and direct credit. Visa and MasterCard credit cards are accepted, however a surcharge of 2.5% will be added. Payments over $10,000.00 must be made by direct credit to our bank account. Our bank details for deposits are 12-3107-0062934-00. Please use your buyer number as transaction reference. Please refer to point 7 of the Conditions of Sale in the catalogue for a detailed description of payment terms.

8. Failure to make payment: If a purchaser fails to make payment as outlined in point 7 above Art+Object may without any advice to the purchaser exercise its right to: a) rescind or stop the sale, b) re offer the lot for sale to an underbidder or at auction. Art+Object reserves the right to pursue the purchaser for any difference in sale proceeds if this course of action is chosen, c) to pursue legal remedy for breach of contract.

9. Collection of goods: Purchased items are to be removed from Art+Object premises immediately after payment or clearance of cheques. Absentee bidders must make provision for the uplifting of purchased items (see instructions on the facing page).

10. Bidders obligations: The act of bidding means all bidders acknowledge that they are personally responsible for payment if they are the successful bidder. This includes all registered absentee or telephone bidders. Bidders acting as an agent for a third party must obtain written authority from Art+Object and provide written instructions from any represented party and their express commitment to pay all funds relating to a successful bid by their nominated agent.

11. Bids under reserve & highest subject bids: When the highest bid is below the vendor's reserve this work may be announced by the auctioneer as sold 'subject to vendor's authority' or some similar phrase. The effect of this announcement is to signify that the highest bidder will be the purchaser at the bid price if the vendor accepts this price. If this highest bid is accepted then the purchaser has entered a contract to purchase the item at the bid price plus any relevant buyers premium.

IMPORTANT ADVICE FOR BUYERS

The following information does not form part of the conditions of sale, however buyers, particularly first time bidders are recommended to read these notes.

A. Bidding at auction: Please ensure your instructions to the auctioneer are clear and easily understood. It is well to understand that during a busy sale with multiple bidders the auctioneer may not be able to see all bids at all times. It is recommended that you raise your bidding number clearly and without hesitation. If your bid is made in error or you have misunderstood the bidding level please advise the auctioneer immediately of your error – prior to the hammer falling. Please note that if you have made a bid and the hammer has fallen and you are the highest bidder you have entered a binding contract to purchase an item at the bid price. New bidders in particular are advised to make themselves known to the sale auctioneer who will assist you with any questions about the conduct of the auction.

B. Absentee bidding: Art+Object welcomes absentee bids once the necessary authority has been completed and lodged with Art+Object. A+O will do all it can to ensure bids are lodged on your behalf but accepts no liability for failure to carry out these bids. See the Absentee bidding form in this catalogue for information on lodging absentee bids. These are accepted up to 2 hours prior to the published auction commencement.

C. Telephone bids: The same conditions apply to telephone bids. It is highly preferable to bid over a landline as the vagaries of cellphone connections may result in disappointment. You will be telephoned prior to your indicated lot arising in the catalogue order. If the phone is engaged or connection impossible the sale will proceed without your bidding. At times during an auction the bidding can be frenetic so you need to be sure you give clear instructions to the person executing your bids. The auctioneer will endeavour to cater to the requirements of phone bidders but cannot wait for a phone bid so your prompt participation is requested.

D. New Zealand dollars: All estimates in this catalogue are in New Zealand dollars. The amount to be paid by successful bidders on the payment date is the New Zealand dollar amount stated on the purchaser invoice. Exchange rate variations are at the risk of the purchaser.
